

Memorial Day weekend

Posted by Heading Out on May 26, 2005 - 3:00pm

Since this is the appropriate time of year, and despite the start in the decline of American oil stocks somewhat ahead of schedule (and all that this entails) I shall be climbing into my vehicle in an hour and heading out for a wedding over the weekend. This may be the last year we can do this with relatively little concern about cost.

Drive safely, conserve where you can, and have a Happy Memorial Day Weekend, I'll see you all next week.

And to keep amused you might want to visit the latest movie craze.

edited to add:

PG here. I, too, am on the road this weekend starting tomorrow. It will be slow blogging around here for a while!

It sounds like we will both return Tuesday. Until then, be safe, be smart, and wear sunscreen... :)

Go to the postings for today

Technorati Tags: peak oil, oil

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.