

Problem with theoil drum.com email addresses

This evening I discovered that the two theoil drum.com email aliases (editors at theoil drum dot com and support at theoil drum dot com) have been broken since we migrated to a new server on August 17. This problem has just been fixed.

If you sent an email to either of these addresses over the past two weeks, we did not receive it. (You most likely would have received a bounce message right away telling you that the message did not get sent.) Please resend your messages.

Sorry for the inconvenience.
