

News From the Week: 10/20

Posted by Glenn on October 20, 2006 - 8:34am in The Oil Drum: Local

Topic: Miscellaneous

Tags: energy, new york [list all tags]

There are a bunch of articles in the news this week about sustainability, regional transportation and politics as well as some upcoming events

Port Authority Buys Land for Hudson Rail Tunnel; On Track for 2016 completion - NY Times

Transportation Costs a Lot in the 'Burbs - Manhattan Institute

World Changing Announces New York Events for their book tour - Worldchanging

NYPD Annouces Revisions to Parade Rules - NY Times

Blogger Community not Pleased about Rules or Speaker Quinn's Support - OnNYTurf; Streetsblog

Bloomberg and Arnold Pose for Green Photo Ops, Raise Campaign Funds Together - NY Post

Cheap Parking in Manhattan Disappearing One Lot at a Time - NY Times

Speeches from Transportation Forum: Former Bogata Mayor Penalosa, NYC Transportation Commissioner Weinshall Gotham Gazette

Congestion Pricing Rumor Mill - Streetsblog

Mixed Use, Middle Income Development Planned in Long Island City NY Times

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.