I ask you all to take a minute and reflect on the keypost that made the most impact on you this year, and I would ask that you link to it in the comments...please try to link to only one. (if you need your memory jogged, go to this link of the top 50 commented articles and then follow this link to upmod this list at reddit and digg. (thanks stiffpicken), use the search or archive function above...or the t-rati or google search functions in the right bar, or use the tag function too. Also, there's no need for voting for your favorite at this time, that may come later, depending on how this goes. I just want to accumulate nominees in one place.)
