

Come to the ASPO-USA Conference in Sacramento, September 21-23, 2008

Posted by Prof. Goose on July 21, 2008 - 9:45am

Topic: Miscellaneous

Tags: aspo, aspo-usa, sacramento [list all tags]

Early Registration Savings End July 21st--and this time they're not going to extend the breaks after the deadline from what I hear. For Conference Agenda and Registration, go to

<http://www.aspo-usa.com/aspousa4/>

Don't miss the chance to join us in Sacramento in September and be a part of defining our energy future. Early Registration ends July 21st, Sunday sessions are likely to sell out and our two core days of plenary sessions always have limited seating capacity. Register today!

Under the fold, find the agenda and other highlights from the program. Come to Sacramento!

Agenda Spotlight: Sunday afternoon, Sept. 21

On Sunday you will be able to choose from the following concurrent sessions:

- Reporting the Peak Oil Story

National journalists Neil King (Wall Street Journal) and Bart Anderson (Energy Bulletin), Rob Collier, Stuart Leavenworth, Lisa Margonelli, and Tom Whipple

- Investing in the new Energy Economy

Investment specialists Rick Schechter, Jim Puplava, Jim Hansen and Atticus Lowe

- Tracking the Public Data and the Latest Developments

Nate Hagens, Kyle Saunders, Jeff Vail, Euan Mearns, Robert Rapier, and Gail Tverberg of The Oil Drum

- Scenarios Planning for State and Local Government

Connecticut State Representative Terry Backer, Bryn Davidson, Dan Bednarz, John Kaufmann, and Dick Lawrence

The day will conclude with a social reception and an evening presentation on "The Oil Story in Iran and Iraq" by Peter Wells.

Two Full Days of Plenary Sessions, on Monday, Sept. 22 and Tuesday, Sept. 23 will each be followed by social receptions and evening presentations.

Monday, Sept. 22 Demand, Meet Supply

Presentations will include "Petroleum 101", and "Alaskan Oil: Prudoe Bay Discovery and Outlook for North Slope Oil"; a "Peak Oil Global Overview - An American Wakeup Call"; extent and aging of Global Energy Infrastructure; and the economic impacts of $100 and €70 Crude Oil. Our luncheon presentation will feature Jim Buckee on "Big Oil & Resource Nationalism", and a surprise evening presentation (Hint: The words "Exponential" and "growth" will be mentioned.)

Tuesday, Sept. 23 Where Now? Choices for the Long Haul

Presentations will address Natural Gas and Coal as Liquid Fuels Substitutes; Fossil Fuel Limits on IPCC Scenarios; and the costs of renewable energy vs. coal. Our luncheon and afternoon sessions will focus on the Future of Aviation and Ground Transportation, Sustainable Mobility, and the Transition of Fuels to Flows as the future becomes electric.

Act Now! For details and early discounts, see our Conference website at

<http://www.aspo-usa.org/aspousa4/>

2008 Sacramento Peak Oil Conference

September 21-23, 2008

Hyatt Regency Sacramento, California

<http://www.aspo-usa.org/aspousa4/>

ASPO-USA is A Non-profit, Non-partisan Research & Public Education Initiative

This work is licensed under a Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 United States License.